Marking schema:	How will the task will be marked, what the marking criteria will be or what the feedback will look like. What are they going to get back and what will it mean.
Additional guidance or help:	Where can students get additional help from (online classroom resources; web site address; etc). Exemplars or what a “good” piece of work would look like

My patch' project Mark scheme

Your My Patch project is marked using the grading system from the Skills Ladder. The majority of students will be at level 2 with only exceptional projects achieving a level 4.

Level 1- You will have all or some of the following:

Some research to highlight the location of your house.

Sources used but not necessarily labelled or explained.

You have used a few sources to show where you live

There is an overall feel that the project is incomplete.

Level 2 – You will have all or some of the following:

You have researched the area where you live in a clear way.

Sources have been labelled and explained

A range of skills have been used such as grid references, labels, points of the compass, use of a key.

You have used your own work and secondary information

It is clear where you live and what the surrounding area is like

Level 3 – You will have all or some of the following:

You have shown in detail where you live with a detailed grid square labelled with a range of features.

You show a wide range of skills including direction, scale, a key, grid references, latitude and longitude.

Your work is presented in a logical order.

Connections are made between where you live and other areas in the Isle of Man.

A wide range of sources are used to further explain the location of your house and surroundings.

Level 4 – You will need to have covered all in Level 3 as well as:

Reasonings as to why your house is inter connected to other locations in the Isle of Man and further afield.

A wide range of primary and secondary sources that are all fully annotated.

Detailed description of where your sources have come from and some evaluation of their accuracy.

Accurate Geographical key terms have been used throughout.

All work independently carried out.
