ILP #4	Research – Empowerment
Week set:	Week 24
Duration:	Approximately 1 to 1 ½ hours
Hand in:	Week 25
Instructions:	This task will help you explore the idea of empowerment, learn how it can inspire and influence others, and apply it to someone who empowers you. Part 1: Research the meaning of empowerment Look up the word empowerment and find three different definitions or examples of it. These can come from articles, websites, videos, or books. Answer these questions based on your research: • What does "empowerment" mean in your own words? • How can empowerment make a positive difference in people's lives? • Can you think of any examples (from history, the world today, or in your community) where someone was empowered to create change? Part 2: Character Profile - Someone Who Empowers You Choose a person who empowers you This could be a famous person, someone in your community, or a personal role model. Complete the Character Profile sheet. This may have been uploaded electronically into your google classroom. If you would prefer to complete this on paper, then ask your teacher to have it printed for you.

Skills:	This task will help you to explore the key theme of empowerment which you will apply to the cluster of poems studied in class this half term.
Marking schema:	Accolades will be awarded to students who complete the task to the best of their ability showing that they have: Taken time to research empowerment carefully. Chosen a person who truly inspires you. Written your response in your own words and given thoughtful reflections Creative character profiles—perhaps added pictures or other creative elements!
